Dennis asked if they were not being used, why that was so?

Steve (Southland AS) expressed thanks for the improvement in communications.

Jennie said there was a problem knowing who to send “Staying in Touch” to. She also asked that any news which societies wished to advertise should be sent to her for inclusion.

Ian (Canterbury AS) commented on the work put in and the value in knowing what is going on.

Andy (New Plymouth AS) said he had not been receiving the publication, perhaps it was being sent to Rod Austin?

Grant indicated it depended on the action of the people to whom it was sent to make sure it was distributed further.

Antony (Phoenix AS) indicated it should be emailed to him and that it would be distributed from there.

Ross (Wanganui AS) asked about an email address for the Hawera Astronomical Society.

Jennie said that all emails were working.

Deborah (Skydome Observers) suggested that a list of societies should be published in Southern Stars and in the Enews. A list of addresses was needed. The secretary asked for updated addresses for the web site, the membership secretary said she would also like them.

Grant commented on the success of the IYA and the value of promoting astronomy widely. Much of the success of the IYA had been due to the efforts of Jennie.

5 General Business

(i) 2012 Transit of Venus

Peter Jaquiere said that Ash Pennell of the Dunedin Astronomical Society has raised the idea of co-ordinating 2012 activities for example in terms of publicity. He also suggested using live feeds as had been done for the IYA so that any places with a view of the transit could act as a feed to places with cloud. Peter asked Jennie for society contacts. The event should raise worldwide interest.

Bob said that the BAA had produced filters for the 2004 transit, and suggested that societies look at producing filters for the 2012 event. It was a possible project for the RASNZ.

Grant said there was a need for a committee to plan for the event and for overseas visitors.

Deborah commented there had been all day coverage of the 2004 transit in the UK.

Grant commented that a suitable lecture tour should be arranged in conjunction with the coming RASNZ lecture fund.

Moved: "That the meeting recommend that the RASNZ organise a public event round the 2012 transit of Venus involving local societies". Ian Crumpton/ Jennie McCormick, carried unanimously.

(ii) Events in association with the IYA

Gordon (Wellington AS) indicated that a number of evening events were being organised by the Wellington Astronomical Society as part of the IYA events. These included:

- Matariki, a full week of events at the library and at Te Papa starting June 8
- July 21 to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Moon Landings
- October 5 a full week on light pollution involving three talks from Steve Butler. The Wellington City Council was supporting this.

Jennie asked to be sent full details.

Steve appreciated the work that Gordon was doing and was very happy to be in a spokesman role. We are not attempting to sell the idea of turning off lighting, because is the control of lighting is much more important. The approach is to get people thinking about the implications of bad lighting.

Gordon said he had been talking to the Porirua City Council regarding cutting down the projected $200,000 increase in power charges for lighting costs.

Ross spoke of the problem with sports ground lighting on a ground close to the Wanganui Observatory. They were attempting to get the local Council to support good lighting design.

(iv) 2012 RASNZConference

Dennis Goodman as chair of the RASNZ Standing Conference Committee indicated that the SCC would be inviting application for offers to host the 2012 conference. It would be in association with the Transit of Venus, so is likely to be held just after in mid June, probably the weekend of June 15 to 17.

(v) Eye on the Universe Photography Exhibition.

Bob reminded societies of this exhibition organised by the Southland Astronomical Society and the Southland Museum and Art Gallery. It had or was going to visit Invercargill, Mt Cook, Auckland, Waitakere and was going to Ashburton next year. Were there other places which would be interested? Napier was suggested. Anyone interested should contact Bob.

There being no further business, the chairman thanked the delegates for their attendance and closed the meeting at about 6.15 pm.
